The poems in this competition will be judged blind. Please do not type your name or any identifying marks on any of your poetry pages.

Each poem should be typed on a separate page.

To receive a copy of the results, please enclose an s.a.e. marked 'SAPC 2015 Results.'

Poems cannot be returned, please do not send your only copy.

No changes to entries will be accepted more than 48 hours after submission.

We discourage simultaneous submissions. If you enter your poem in this competition while awaiting result of another competition in which it has been entered and suddenly learn the poem has won a prize and you write us to withdraw the poem, we will take it out of the competition but regret we will not refund your entry fee.

If you win one of the prizes in this year's competition, you will NOT be prohibited from entering next year's competition.

If on the advice of the judge, the quality of entries is too low to produce worthy prize winners, or any other legitimate reason beyond our control arises which may affect a fair completion or conduct of the competition, we reserve the right to cancel the competition and refund all entry fees immediately by the same method we have been paid.

We reserve the right to reapportion the prize money if necessary in the interest of continuity as an alternative to cancellation of the competition.

By entering this competition you provide some information such as your address and e-mail address which may be deemed personal information. These will be processed according to the data protection acts 1998 and 2002. We will never pass on any detail you provide in the course of entering this competition to a third party and we will never sell your data to anyone for marketing purposes.

When you enter this competition we suggest that you subscribe free of charge to our newsletter so that we may contact you by e-mail with the results of the competition, the adjudicator's reports and information on future competitions. This is optional and you may unsubscribe from the newsletter at any time.

Copyright to all poems submitted will remain with the authors but the Sentinel Poetry Movement will seek first publication rights to all winning and commended poems.

Please only submit your own original work.

The adjudicator's decision will be final and no correspondence can be entered into.

The submission of poems for the Prize will be taken as indicating acceptance of the above conditions.
